Report from the Investment Manager

CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - CARNEGIE Strategy Fund

Sub-Fund performance

The year began with falling share prices due to weak economic data from China, signals from the US Fed that interest rates would be raised in several steps during the year, and falling oil prices. Softer tones from the Fed, and stabilised oil prices, led the stock markets to recover somewhat. Expectations of further stimulus from central banks boosted risk appetite in the autumn. Trump's victory in the US presidential election gave further momentum to the equity markets, with promises of tax cuts and public investment. Thus interest rates also rose.

Overall, the Nordic stock markets have risen. However, disappointments from Novo Nordisk, Denmark's largest listed company, caused the Danish market to fall. Although bond yields were initially low they fell further on concerns about deflation, but the autumn's trend was upward.

The CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - CARNEGIE Strategy Fund has thus been operating in markets with rising prices for shares and long-term government bonds. Credit spreads have moved in line with the stock market, but with less volatility. Short-term corporate bonds therefore also began the year weakly, before recovering.

The Sub-Fund rose in 2016 by 13.11 percent. Net flows during the period amounted to SEK 38.9 million. Assets under management on 31st December 2016 amounted to SEK 923 million.

Sub-Fund management

The investment strategy of the CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - CARNEGIE Strategy Fund basically means that the Sub-Fund invests in securities issued by Nordic companies that provide a high yield. The yield may consist of either dividends or interest coupons on bonds. Below are some comments on the most important changes to the portfolio.

The Sub-Fund has increased its equity stake in Investor. Its discount is unjustifiably high considering the obvious surplus values in Mölnlycke and EQT. We also expect a stable and growing dividend. The Sub-Fund has also bought Tele2. However, this company has problems with profitability in a few markets. The intention is to dispose of the parts of the business that are not considered primary. Cash flows from the Nordic operations are sufficient to provide a high and stable dividend, albeit with low growth.

During the spring NCC split into a construction arm and a real estate company, respectively called NCC and Bonava. The Sub-Fund bought NCC before the split. The increased focus brought about by this type of split tends to result in the parts being valued higher than the whole. SCA also announced plans to split into two, with a hygiene products company and a forest products company, which sparked our interest in buying. This split should also lead to greater focus on profitability and opportunities to optimise the capital structure. The latter seems to be happening in connection with the hygiene arm's bid for BSN Medical.

At the beginning of the year, the Sub-Fund made a major investment in real estate company Castellum. In the spring the company made a bid for Norrporten, partly financed by a rights issue in which the Sub-Fund subscribed for its allocation. We chose to sell this holding at a good profit. We also chose to sell Nordea. Given the performance of the share price we should have waited, but the Sub-Fund has invested in the banking sector through bank bonds instead. These bonds now have a lower interest rate risk since they only have 3-4 years left until maturity, which means a higher yield curve in dollars (the currency most are issued in) should not have a big impact.

In addition to bank bonds, the Sub-Fund has invested in bonds issued by ComHem. ComHem is an interesting credit investment with strong cash flows, but with somewhat high debt which makes the stock a little risky. However, it is well suited as a bond since the yield of around 3 percent is attractive given the risk.

Derivatives trading etc

The Sub-Fund traded in derivatives during the year. The Sub-Fund is able to purchase securities in foreign currency. To protect Swedish unitholders against currency movements in the bond holdings, the Sub-Fund hedges its bonds using currency futures. The commitment approach is applied as the risk assessment method to calculate the total exposure of the Sub-Fund. The margin requirement on 31st December was SEK 0. The Swedish krona's movements against other currencies did not have any significant impact on the Sub-Fund's net asset value per share during the period.

Securities holdings

On 31st December, 96 percent of the Sub-Fund's assets were invested in underlying securities. The remaining 4 percent consisted of cash and cash equivalents. Equities made up 63 percent.

Outlook

Our view, as previously, is that a portfolio of stable stocks that pay good dividends and corporate bonds with attractive interest rates create sound conditions for good long-term value growth at relatively low risk.

Higher prices for stocks and corporate bonds have made it harder for us to find stocks with high dividend yields or bonds with high interest rates. It might not matter when the prices of the Sub-Fund's investments rise, as one might take the opinion that the Sub-Fund is simply receiving future dividends up-front. That said, the potential for future yield falls. Expectations for the Sub-Fund should therefore be lower than the returns it has generated during the past three years, averaging 11 percent annually.

CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - CARNEGIE Corporate Bond

Sub-Fund performance

2016 was an eventful year that offered many surprises. During the year the Share Class A (SEK) rose 3.4 percent, with a gain of 0 percent in the first half and 3.4 percent in the second half.

The year began as 2015 ended, with decreasing risk appetite and lower oil prices, combined with outflows from Nordic credit funds. This resulted in weak performance, especially for the Sub-Fund's Norwegian high-yield holdings, but subordinated bank capital also had a tough time in the first quarter. Although the credit market rebounded in March, the UK's vote on EU membership meant that the first half-year ended with concerns about its consequences and a volatile market, with both short-term and long-term interest rates falling globally. During the first half-year, activity for new issues of high-yield credit was low in the Nordic countries while the issue market for companies with better credit quality gained momentum in the second quarter.

It was not long, however, before the market had shaken off thoughts of Brexit and risk appetite returned. The ECB's support purchases of corporate bonds began to be really apparent in the second half of 2016, favouring low-yield credit in particular. The effect also spilled over somewhat to high-yield credit and to the Nordic countries. Donald Trump was elected in November as the new US president, which made the global financial markets plunge until his conciliatory victory speech, with a focus on fiscal stimulus, calmed the market.

As we approached the end of the year, we saw better economic signals from many directions. Thus the second half of the year was marked by increased risk appetite and lower credit margins, while long-term market interest rates rose on a broad front. The primary market was active in all segments during the half-year, and Nordic high-yield credit saw a number of highly attractive transactions, especially during the last part of 2016.

One of the more high-profile transactions in 2016 was the merger of Intrum and Lindorff. This had a positive impact on our Lindorff bonds, since these are expected to be redeemed in 2017 at a significant premium. Our bonds in LM Wind and Global Connect also had sharply rising prices after the companies became takeover targets.

The Sub-Fund had a net outflow of SEK 820 million during the year, and assets under management at the end of December 2016 were SEK 11.7 billion.

Sub-Fund management

During the year we had a balanced portfolio and were active in both primary and secondary transactions. Notable investments in primary transactions included Volvo Cars, Com Hem, debt collection company B2 Holding, and logistics company Scan Global Logistics. We also increased our exposure to the insurance sector in names like IF, Storebrand and Tryg, which contributed to the diversification of the portfolio.

In the secondary market, we reduced our exposure to Finland as a consequence of the lower yield levels prevailing in the wake of ECB support purchases of euro-denominated credit.

We reduced our weighting in the energy and oil-related sectors in favour of banks, real estate and transport. These changes were not due to a specific opinion about the sectors, but to our view of the credit quality of individual companies in each sector. Many companies in the oil and energy sectors have been affected by low oil prices, and will face big long-term challenges even if oil prices turn, while others have a very positive future ahead.

Maria Andersson was recruited in April 2016, and is part of the management team for CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - CARNEGIE Corporate Bond.

Derivative trading

The Sub-Fund manages currency risk by hedging the exchange rates of foreign currencies against the SEK. The Sub-Fund may use derivatives, partly to enhance or protect credit exposure and also to reduce or increase the interest rate duration. In order to calculate the Sub-Fund's total exposure resulting from the use of derivatives, the commitment approach has been used as the risk assessment method.

Outlook

It is difficult to predict the future, which is something that was made clear during a very eventful 2016. In 2017 we will keep an eye on the possible effects of reduced quantitative easing by central banks. In addition, there will be several political elections in Europe to keep track of, while question marks remain about the consequences of both Brexit and Trump. At the same time, the data suggests a stronger economy. In other words, there is a continued risk of some volatility going forward, and we as usual intend to limit the effects with a balanced portfolio. We continue to have a short duration to minimise the impact of potentially rising long-term interest rates. The expected return on the Sub-Fund in the current market climate is around 3-3.5 percent.

CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - Carnegie Total

Sub-Fund performance

CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - Carnegie Total is the latest addition to Carnegie Fonder's range. The Sub-Fund was launched on 29th August 2016 and got off to a good start, rising 3.1 percent in 2016. The net flow to the Sub-Fund was SEK 112 million, and assets under management at year-end were SEK 114 million.

Equities as an asset class have performed well, and in today's low interest rate environment there are few attractive investment alternatives. The low interest rates and slowly rising bond yields mean the potential for traditional fixed-income investments like government securities is very low. We prefer corporate bonds, although the risk in these is higher. Corrections in the market occur every now and then, but our focus is to achieve good long-term risk-adjusted returns.

Sub-Fund management

CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - Carnegie Total is an asset allocation fund (fund of funds) that invests in a variety of Carnegie Fonder's most successful funds. These include Carnegie Sverigefond, Carnegie Småbolagsfond and Carnegie Corporate Bond. Carnegie Fonder's range is complemented with some funds from fund manager OPM. All the funds CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - Carnegie Total are long-term and actively managed. The strategic asset allocation is 60 percent stocks and 40 percent fixed-income. An emphasis on the equity side creates good long-term potential, while the fixed-income funds can act as shock absorbers in troubled times. CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - Carnegie Total's fixed-income component consists mainly of corporate bonds, which have better opportunities to generate returns relative to government bonds with low returns. Tactical asset allocation takes place continuously, with adjustments to the equity and fixed-income portions. Changes to the Sub-Fund are decided by the principal Sub-Fund manager, with the support of an investment board comprising CEO Hans Hedström and the Sub-Fund managers Fredrik Colliander, Babak Houshmand and John Strömgren. CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - Carnegie Total's construction allows diversified savings in actively managed funds with good track records at a competitive fee.

During the period, the Sub-Fund increased its holding in Carnegie Rysslandsfond. OPEC managed to agree oil production caps, resulting in rising oil prices and sharp gains in the Russian stock market. Carnegie Rysslandsfond experienced fantastic performance towards the end of the year, and was the Sub-Fund's top holding during the period. We also slightly reduced our weighting in Carnegie Asia. Prospects of higher US interest rates, a stronger dollar and the risk of protectionism are weighing on Asia.

Increased protectionism, as suggested by Donald Trump, could of course eventually be negative for many emerging countries, especially those with large exports to the United States. The US interest rate increase and a stronger dollar increase the attractiveness of US investments, but are also negative for countries that have borrowings in dollars.

Derivatives trading etc

The Sub-Fund has not traded in derivatives or lent securities during the period. The commitment approach is used as the risk assessment method to calculate the total exposure in the Sub-Fund. The margin requirement on 30th December was SEK 0.

Securities holdings

On 30th December, 98 percent of the Sub-Fund's assets were invested in underlying funds. The remaining 2 percent was in cash and cash equivalents. Equity funds made up 60 percent.

Outlook

In the current situation, there is a focus on growth stocks and there are great expectations for US infrastructure projects, generating a positive spiral for many construction and industrial companies. Inflation expectations have soared since mid-year, leading to good performance for cyclical companies. The gains in many of the world's stock markets are explained by strong faith in the economy and positive interpretation of Trump's economic policies. The question is whether too much is being factored in too soon. There is plenty to suggest increased volatility going forward, but we take a long-term stance and are maintaining our focus, namely active value management. CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - Carnegie Total consists of proven funds, managed by proven managers using a proven model.

Note 12 - Tax refund

The Company has instigated proceedings to reclaim tax withheld by certain Member States of the European Union on dividend payments it has received. The decision to initiate proceedings against any particular Member State is the result of an analysis of the likely costs and potential benefits of doing so. The likelihood of successfully reclaiming such amounts together with the estimated time to complete proceedings varies across Member States.

In 2016 a tax reclaim in Finland was done for CARNEGIE Fonder Portfolio - CARNEGIE Strategy Fund, so far no success was granted but the Sub-Fund awaits feedback in the next coming years. As such, amounts will be recorded, where applicable, on a cash basis under the caption "Other Income".

Additional Information (unaudited)

as at 31st December 2016

1 - Risk management

As required by Circular CSSF 11/512, the Board of Directors needs to determine the global risk exposure of the Company either by applying the commitment approach or the VaR approach. The Board of Directors of the Company decided to adopt the commitment approach as a method of determining the global exposure.

2 - Remuneration disclosure

SEB Fund Services S.A. (SEB) has implemented a Remuneration policy that is designed to encourage good performance and behavior, and seeks to achieve a balanced risk-taking that goes in line with unitholders' expectations.

In SEB, there is clear distinction between the criteria for setting fixed remuneration (e.g. base pay, pension and other benefits) and variable remuneration (e.g. short- and long-term variable remuneration). The individual total remuneration corresponds to requirements on task complexity, management and functional accountability and also related to the individual's performance.

SEB provides a sound balance between fixed and variable remuneration and aligns the pay out horizon of variable pay with the risk horizon. This implies that certain maximum levels and deferral arrangements apply for different categories of employees.

The amount below represents the proportion of the total remuneration on calendar year 2016 and adjusted according to the number of full time employees during the year 2016 and identified staff (i.e. the aggregate amount of remuneration broken down by senior management and members of staff of the Management Company/ AIFM whose actions have a material impact on the risk profile of the funds). This amount is further proportioned to the total net asset value of each fund, taking into account UCITS and non-UCITS.
